

You Should Be Thankful

*You should be thankful
At least enough to say thank you
For the blessings we bestow on you everyday
Because just like that things could go the wrong way
See this environment is volatile and violent
The created energy of freedom versus confinement
The stewing pot for "We" who have transgressed
A buzzards nest for the angry and depressed
See we allow you to over act your responsibilities
Void of any compassion and or any sensitivities
The "We" here carry extremely heavy loads
Unstable powder kegs waiting for a reason to explode
"We" already suffer with seriously shaky nerves
That can't handle being unnecessarily disturbed
This is the land of association and affliction
So at anytime can arise a real bad situation
Then understand when you go home at the end of your shift
That it wasn't a definite it was a gift
Because we could decide to be spiteful and revengeful.....
But if you only knew! You would be more thankful*

The Wordist — WAM