

Because We All Wear White

*Because we all wear white
You view me with a prejudice mind sight
I am seen as being less than what I am
And what I am at the very least is a human
So that should afford me at least creations minimum
But I cannot seem to get that from them
Instead I am treated with a predetermined low standard
Allowed to have no opinion so I feel like a coward
I might wear them but I am not a scrub
Outside of this place I am wanted, needed, and loved
Under normal circumstances I am respected
It is this state of Georgia who thought I needed to be corrected
So here I sit grossly stereotyped
Misrepresented by inflamed media hype
At the mercy of my overseers biased assumptions
Urged to just shut up and follow their instructions
Because to them I'm the scum of the earth
Not worth the weight of my after birth
However I am living proof that they are nowhere near right...
They just think they are because we all wear white*
