"My Love, My Passion"

Purnell R. Nelson is disrupter, his ambitious effort to change himself and people in prison bad decision making in to positive changes that connects with one another. Purnell as a poet and artist I can connect with my fans that is phenomenal, I don't know what the future holds but I bet Purnell is a big part of it. Purnell is a true poet and artist. Through his poetry, his poems has transform the way people read, the way poetry interact with fans. Purnell has plans to build a publishing company, Purnell has knowledge publishing line that is Tree of serving the community around it. Purnell has his publisher to the higher purpose, Guiding and giving back to the places where it does business, he shares a belief where it does panies should measure more than a bottom line. As an inmate in a prison society a bottom poetry books is a testament of my writing. In his well doing time everyday my writing Purnell to use his ideas he translated all the information in the book into pictures of reality. Institutionalized mind into pictures his poetry in a powerful demonstration create both complexity and capacity of life's struggles in an ancient world that corrupted by evil ideas found in our minds to please by minds and flesh mentally and physically pur pleasures we stolen from ourselves, emotions created to control life. Purnell is not playing God, but he writes like a god, a god of war, a god of peace, a god of love, a god of set, a god of spirit, but do not use people to be a god. His contribution to literary world while incarcerated in imagination he brings may change the entire world and our experie nce of life itself as a poet and artist waiting to be release from the law.
