

APWA ESSAY

By: C. VETHUYSEN #195606 NOV. 2019

As I sit in my PRISON CELL looking at this picture a friend sent me years ago, I recall all the sandy beaches I used to visit on vacations with my friends & family. Even though I will NOT EVER go to this beach, as it's JOHANNESBURG, SOUTH AFRICA; I wish I could, and do because my friend from VIRGINIA has told me all about it in her letters.

These are the vacations I now take, that even though are through others, I can let my self go (almost) there too!

I hope others realize what they sacrifice when they come to prison. Not only do they lose the love of family & friends, but food they enjoy, (vacations) they take, clothes they can buy, and interacting with healthy people.

Stay out of prisons!

Christopher VETHUYSEN
#195606