They know the only way I can make things better for myself is by bettering those around me basically with the welfare of girls I noticed that the girls seem not interested to express their interest In the Fighting sports I intend to dedicate to this world that the throne to women knowing how from old-shouldn't it was a woman that invented the fighting arts instead these police girls have to spend their time ushered from one to another male catering and they are hooted at by most all the hoodlums of the facility and I tried to show them the old-fashion don't do that or I punch in the face but it continues behind my back because its something that woman must learn this is just short and simple preoccupation of a ladies worry that I see in my world.
