Economics - the science that deals with the production, distribution and consumption of wealth.

With those two definitions you can find Social Economics is the science of community common welfare. I'm young but I wasn't born yesterday. Under my belt I hold unique experience that have given me special good faith in the bible and religion and my own experience that come from a hypersensitive mind. I have witnessed groups of people conduct themselves with their own agendas apparent to me. I see people's respect as a code of conduct that dates back to ancient teachings of life. I see how people pick things up and change faith or moral conduct. I believe there are teachings of God the devil and of humans. Humans have many teachings and unfortunately they're mundane and I know that intelligence is anything but mundane, however how intelligence is gather sets the foundations to its purpose.

Social Economics shows how Social Welfare can be a skill and can also be a disability. It shows theories that can be employed and learned from for purposes of good or evil. It explains and discerns the lives of sociopaths and illuminati. It explains how success is achieved in areas of money, intelligence, and energy in special yet common cases. The laws are present in people who don't know them and employed by those who hide the knowledge. In other words if you aren't evil you suffer from the implications of it in this life. There is immense damage in this world that becomes apparent to people after manhood or womanhood and changes each person exponentially. This is a fact apparent in music, language, and in our identity.
It is the reason we were all introduced to the Bible for. It is the reason behind mental illness, disability, and mortality.
