

Further Discourse on Sensory Perception

Torres
#BD8991
2-22-20
MCSF
POBox 409020
Jones CA
95640
POBox
409020

I wrote some time ago about a philosophical topic which I had conceived for myself since a young age. A topic that may have opened the doors of perception of hallucinations and flashbacks of memories which have lead me to conclude I was destined to be a prisoner before age 8. The topic is sensory perception and I will examine it more closely than last time.

Perhaps, sensory perception is a doctrine that will be more believable in the future once the mysteries of the mind and brain become more developed. Be that as it may be, today I live a life that could use explanations to my perceptions and navigation to the various epiphanies that include reasons to why things are as they are to the degree I live a parallel life to my god-given-ignorant-wonderless life. I have identified feelings which are counterparts to thoughts, vision, and postures ranging from a closed and open hand, to a blue sky as depressing, and self consciousness.

to non conscious behavior, that could have only been conjured due to a hyperactive state of consciousness. The state of hyper awareness is most likely an experiment of demigods of my reaction to everything I know under a magnifying glass (extra sensory perception). Anyway I wanted to bring up a thought I had today while I was reading philosophy in a cold poorly lit prison cell. What I thought was based on the principle that we supposedly receive light from objects the same way light bounces off a person. So today, I read something in a philosophy journal I first came across in the definition of gnosticism and gnosis. Something I believe I am achieving through great mentorship, and which I am responsible for my course of action with this knowledge. Knowledge of clairvoyance and properties of the universe as perceived by an individual principles that call matter evil and in my view soul sucking, and in my philosophical journal "colonies of souls", so matter may be conscious, if me and these widely held beliefs are right. Something inside matter is the reason for projection of emotions and other feelings onto us or other beings or objects. - EWT