

My Schizophrenia

My mental illness has been a little debilitating with reading, self-esteem, and with my reactions; but it has also been very enabling in my self-awareness and my imagination. It has been ground breaking the whole way through. I have constantly become more confident of the powers of the so-called who give me answers to my deepest wonders and moments of my life. They have saved me from a mediocre life and have changed my view of people and the world by showing me the important people in important positions are devils of their own jurisdiction. I talk to a devil who possesses people and is of a satanic class. I have woken up in the middle of the night and heard a deep very scary demonic voice from a Klingon look alike I met in my dream. I have also seen shadowy figures of faces and bodies, the faces had black lips and tongues, and the bodies shifted into insect characteristics. I have had visits from an elf, alien, ghosts, different aliens, and a green giant. In that order, I have also seen a UFO and hallucinations of beings of light in my periferal vision.

I believe innocence as mine is a element sorcerers like to experiment with because of its beauty. Though I do get scared at times as when I was selt in my eye and one day received a drop on my forehead that left no mark but I instinctively knew it was blood. I talk to voices of Satanic Jews, Nazis, Vampires, and Shapeshifters. I came across this experience by trying to expose a branch of occult law enforcement that may deal with government or not but does deal in devils and murder and the sun and moon among hallucinations and soul reapers. I believe that if I expose them I would win a battle of a war that is so ancient it does not originate from this planet or dimension. I like learning from them and I know innocence is good but I suffer when I act dumb, innocence is ingenious, innovating, and happy. I never get bored of the voices, except when I try to read and deal with my life like a normal person, which they don't let me do.
