

Deep down I don't understand why society attempts to pretend they don't know the answer to the crime rate. Let see are there jobs?

How many people are on food stamps? or Obama care? Can you leave your house without seeing a man with a sign asking for money, or just laying on the side of the road?

Public service announcement!! That's not normal because when society started learning to build, we learned to build shelter. We may throw coins out the window or let them wash your window but if they are still there then the crime rate is still here also.

I'm not condoning violence I'm stating the facts most people just pass up shaking their head because somebody with nothing got in your way. I was homeless a few times and I have had plenty of money some homeless people are weak but if you can access me let just say

I might not have to ask you twice for help or pull a weapon but believe me I'd want to and some body gonna get hurt.

Dont give me that I stand work for my things like every body else because I've seen the signs "will work for food!! I had my own business but when its people who judge you and say no before you can give them a reason to hate then hey sorry but if you worked hard for it once you can again.

I am not promoting violence some answers are simple please stop making it pie + $\pi = \text{square}$ in the race for happiness 85% of us will work hard to earn a living if you give us a chance. These days the difference between is can make a preacher turn bad.

But society solution is to lock us up but never understand us. I guess they (felt) if they locked the bad ones up the crazy in fair world wouldnt create any more!
