

The Red, Unfortunate, and Blue

"Today my Eighth Amendment rights were violated by a health-care provider here in prison. I am unable to utilize the word professional because her conduct was anything but that. The word provider is inappropriate as well, as her actions were cruel and unusual.

The two operative words - health, and care, are combined for a reason. However, Nurse Practitioner Carson had no regard for my health, and not a care for what I feel on a daily basis.

I suffer from Fibromyalgia, amongst other chronic disorders, all of which produce pain. This callous, disolute woman stated that plenty of people have pain but that they 'just deal with it.' In other words, as should I.
