A compilation of actual conversations with My MSOP Guardians

So, you're new to treatment...

With all due respect, I completed 3 years of treatment before I arrived here

Which is why we put you right into Phase 2

But you give Phase 2's to everyone, even people who refuse to do treatment

Well, anyway, you are beginning Phase 2...

I was actually finishing Phase 2 before... ready for Phase 3

But the records show you haven't completed any of our required tests

I completed and passed 2 maintenance polygraphs, I'm ready for my Full Disclosure test

We want you to take another maintenance poly first, just to get comfortable with the room

I'm willing to do that as long as it doesn't delay my Full Disclosure test

It's not called "Full Disclosure" anymore it's now "Detailed Sexual History"

No matter what it's called, I completed and presented that at your other program

You need to redo the paperwork again, here it is

Okay, but uhm, it appears as if this is the wrong paperwork

You're arguing with us an awful lot

I'm advocating for myself

You rebut everything we say

I try to correct factual errors before they become documented as facts

See, you're doing it again.

Oops. Sorry, I'll work on that.

We think you need more time in treatment first

But I'm not getting more treatment, I'm just repeating classes I already passed

You still need to complete 3 steps before you get advanced

I'm ready, willing and able to do those 3 things to get advanced

You know Treatment's more than a "to-do" check-list to complete

But you're the one who said I need to do these 3 things to go to Phase 3!

Your sense of entitlement is slowing your progress in treatment

You're right, I'm so sorry

Now you're just placating us to get ahead

No, I'm not...

Now you're arguing again

I'm not arguing!

Yes you are.

I give up!!

See, we were right

(muffled groan)
