

Do Prison Lives Matter for Innocent inmates

Did you ever go into the prison system and think about, who is the voice for the innocent inmates? You go to the chow hall or yard and see things, that others sense as normal.

There isn't anything normal about it, to the average person, unless perhaps your camping, but your not, your an innocent inmate stuck in the system, so life goes on.

The prison is worried about the water used to flush your toilet, so they hook up a button, you press, to flush your toilet, that doesn't work, or it has no water pressure to flush it, and all this contaminated waste in your toilet, hangs around for you to get the porta-potty feel of camping, but were not camping, there's no tent, no sleeping bag, and no Coleman lantern, so you have to use your imagination.

Also, during this imaginary camping trip, the sinks and showers leak water continuously, so they save money with these "flush" buttons, and lose money with the leaky showers & sinks.

So, there's no lake to jump into, no fishing, and no tents or sleeping bags, But to help your imagination we are provided with a "porta-potty" likeness in our cells, to give you that camping out feel, isn't that wonderful?

Now your wondering, what does that have to do with anything in the modern world. During a COVID pandemic and now the Delta variant arising quickly, sanitary conditions should be a requirement for all housing units, with multi-occupancy in cells.

Also, all vaccinated inmates should be housed together, and all unvaccinated inmates should be housed together, which is logical, but not followed through, even in quarantine.

So the question arises, does prison lives matter for innocent inmates, the answer is obviously, "no", we are just a body count for government funding.

When asked about the continuing problem of toilets that don't flush, the response is, "don't come to prison". The food we get served, that has on the box, "not for human consumption" you don't like the food, "don't come to prison", you don't like flat, tipped mattresses, and torn sheets, or blankets, "don't come to prison" you don't like the lack of medical care, or that nobody believes your ill, til you collapse, or have a heart attack, "don't come to prison"

But here's the big question. "What if you didn't commit a crime, what if you're innocent, does your life matter? The answer is, "to you, it does, to everyone else, "no", because prison lives don't matter, when you're innocent, only when you're guilty, then "Prison lives matter". So when officials say, "don't come to prison", or "you committed the crime, do the time" what if you didn't? does prison lives matter?

As I sit here and imagine myself on a camping trip. Instead of watching the clock, until I can flush my toilet again, to sheer delight, let's hear from you, what would be a better solution for my toilet, and wrongful convictions for inmates until prison lives matter, and maybe there will be government funding for us, instead of nothing, I had "waited for something", to no avail, now its anything.

Carol Hann - SCI Muncy.