

Liberty's Tears

Another life subsides
Because they couldn't pay the fee
Money talks and it decides
Who gets to be free

Beneath her blindfold, Lady Liberty cries
As they violate her creed
All around her justice dies
At the hands of greed

You must prove your innocence
Seems you never get the chance
The prison's paid to keep you
Each soul fuels their decadence

To be treated like an animal
That's become your fate
Sometimes it seems you'll never
Exit out that gate

You fight to stay alive
As everything fades away
Hope becomes a memory
Of a brighter day

So you lie there in your cell
Waiting for the dawn
You never cherished freedom
And now freedom's gone
