If I was able to change three things about the ADC, what would they be? First of all I would change medical staff and hire more staff that care about human beings and make that a priority. Inmates will be given check ups or physicals every thirty days. I would make sure that the hospital, day clinic, and infirmary are sanitized every day and every night. More staff will be hired within the medical field for inmates. The next thing I would change about ADC is the grievance process. Far too many times have I known staff to lie or give false statements to the Warden, whether written or verbal. And too much have I known the staff word to be relied upon without any type of evidence but the statement of the staff member. I'll have more investigation done, and only proven evidence will be relied upon, not just words. The ADC training programs teach staff to not trust inmates which is not fair because just like an inmate is capable of telling lies so are staff. The grievance process the way it is is not fair at all, and I know this by first hand knowledge. The last or third thing I will change about the ADC is the way the inmates are fed. I'll have staff working in the prisons kitchen that are neat and clean and would serve inmates only what they themselves would eat. I'll make sure that staff are tasting or sampling the food, and that the meal is prepared neatly. I'll also make sure that there are no roaches or rats within the kitchen area at all, because this is very unsanitary. I'll change whats at the best interest for both staff and inmates.

No human being deserves to be mistreated and violated in any type of way. Inmates were sentenced to ADC for their crime they committed and not to be looked upon as if they are not human beings. Inmates to have feelings and family on the outside that care about them. I have been in the system since 1994, and I've experienced a lot of unjust treatment by those who have authority over me. I'm not telling you what someone else told me, I'm giving you facts on what I've been through, and what I've seen. It takes integrity and righteousness to rule over a people or nation, and what I've seen in the ADC system it's not based on integrity for the most part. May God bless you and keep you and may God cause His face to shine upon you.
