

AS I Sit back and Watch darkness, light had quick disappear. My day Was no longer light but darkness, said he y it okay, & covered you, as the star appear in the dark heaven. The Moon said you was never forgive. as the world turn My body and soul back, as I hate you know like is a ~~shade~~ light, it's come, and goes. I tell you who know, which way the wind blow, the dirt spell My soul is about to give, My spirit shall but, the darkness of My skin is never appear, as I suffer. The blood in My body, begin to better, but My hair dont look like the white man of a church, ^{when} ~~when~~ My eyes is brown, but the white people have kept me down, as the dirt the snow grows, as My skin is beautiful brown, that's why they dont want me around, as I walk and talk the white woman notice My teeth the same color as chalk, she said boy, & said na'ah I dont want to ~~talk~~, talk, and I search for love, I sat down next to a dove, and I ask why was black people was never love.

Thank you forever forever
