

Reparation

TRUE indeed. The impacts from the slavery of our people, still remains to be seen- Willie Lynch (Psychological impact) prime example- single Black female addicted to Retail. Plus, who over the years, has a baby, who really couldn't afford a car. So she'd named her daughter -lexis. There are longterm psychological impacts. Sourced from the Willie Lynch theory. TRUE indeed.

The same modern day consequences, that were heaped upon our ancestors, is being heaped upon us. And our oppressors, have the visions, to reserve stashes of additional nightmares that heap upon our children. TRUE in VERY indeed.

In order for a person wanting to be free, they are acutely aware, that they are a slave. It's pathetic to think otherwise. Those who use the "N" word, blatantly show inevitable conflict which is a form of epitome of disrespect. They criminalized the 13th Amendment. Those who are duly convicted, of a crime committed against their very own people, shouldn't enjoy the financial benefits from reparation. To do so, is like rewarding the criminal, when it should be-rewarding the victim for his or her sufferations. People use that "N" word daily, to verbally express-Endearment. But as soon as they go to one of our's racist ass prisons, and the hangman, calls them the same word, they get highly upset. Logic defeats anger, and the logic here is being, the "N" word. It doesn't have any breaks. The "N" word, is the "N" word-Regardless to whom uses it. Inadvertently, this candid conversation of reparation, doesn't only apply to Black people (a race which wasn't only oppressed). Native-Americans and their ancestors was also valorize by the atrocities of animosity.

At disproportionate rates. Women just like males. Simultaneously, are violated in every imaginable way. Manhood, is very hard to earn. Yet, it's very, very, very easy to lose. Incarcerated individuals, must thwart using their mental health diagnoses. As an excuse. That gives them the justification to continue their criminal behaviors, which specifically targets females. Stated differently, "Keep your tic tac" inside your pants. men don't demonize. I'm pretty sure. Perhaps, if any female inside the violator's family was disrespected in such manner - mother, ^{aunt,} ~~and~~ niece. Who works inside this hyper masculine environment was the victim of such oppressive behaviors (sexual deviants). The person would want to inflict bodily harm upon them. Being logic supports this theory. Then why would the person (sexual deviant) disrespect the next female? Why, because there's absolutely no relation! This trajectory entails and logically demonstrates - Absurdity. A female is a female. The "N" word is the "N" word. And in Reality - Logic as it stands. It is logic. And sensible logic can't be galvanize around. Collectively, it must be emphasize - An ~~un~~^{unchecked} pride will kill you. It's totally a false belief. Prison is the end of the road, especially if having a life sentence. This environment isn't fruit from the poisonous tree. Our reactionary tendencies to our daily experience environment. Either amounts to - adapt or adopt. With this being said. We all have a choice; pay for an education now. OR pay for incarceration later. ~~OR pay for a life sentence later.~~ PS - Stay strong and steadfast. ~~un~~malik malachi mohammad.
