

I feel like our Nation is playing tug-a-war, one day we have Rights but the next day they are no more. Like the Right to Vote becoming hardcore, but the Right to Bear Arms lost its up-date and score.

One Right being used against People of Color, the other Right White Men adore. I believe no Constitutional Rights should be in a tug-a-war. Especially, being these are inalienable Rights written in The U.S. Constitution especially for-"All Her U.S. Citizens of course".

The British tugged on one; The Southerners tugged on another, They Both led to War. This wasn't a tug-a-war, we fought and won as One Group (Americans) for sure. How has White Citizens become way more valuable than all other Citizens on these American shores?

When Black & Brown Citizens Free-Labor built this Empire we all can afford. "We The People" have protected US through every tug-a-war, and this illogical mind-set about Race & Racism should end for sure.

Tug-a-war has a disingenuous encore. One day they're for Righteousness and the next day no more. As soon as we make progress we hear the masses begin to snore. How could we be morally correct, but allow our Men & Women to reduce themselves to Whores.

However, with the oldest profession there's no real tug-a-war. Some will always be objectified like never before. Like the Color of my skin to the essence of my core. I've lived 60 years in Tug-A-War.

This tug-a-war is now on Congress House & Senate floor. It has knocked on every Citizen's door. Some are still fighting America's Civil War. Some keep fighting to even up the score. A lot don't realize nor understand, God won The Good vs. Evil War. The Devil is no more.

IF America was called upon to be the example of The World, We wouldn't suffer and exploit our Poor. We would provide for all our Citizens needs and control this Tug-A-War.

BY

