To those who have Ears and Conscience.

It seems every time I watch the news there is talk about the increase in crime across the U.S.A. And the only answers politicians can come up with is that crime is on the rise because the laws are lenient and "there is no consequences". A typical statement from a heartless drone politician who wants only to inflict hardship and max punishment on people already struggling in life. Most we lock everyone up forever because it is not in our nature to be controlled and oppressed.

First of all, people do not need to commit crimes unless they are struggling in life or are dealing with a mental illness. We have been incarcerating and enslaving each other since we have been on this earth and it has not stopped criminality one bit. Incarceration and enslavement is just another crime against humanity born from malice and hate and resentment. There is nothing just about our "criminal justice system". That system is the Evil Beast, The Leviathan.

Criminality is not born out of soft laws and punishment. Criminality is born out of selfishness and it is a mental illness. It is no coincidence that in the most selfish nation there is the highest rate of criminality and incarceration. And it is most ridiculous that we as a nation raise the banners of morality and liberty and and forgiveness but when it comes down to it we are a nation of mean, greedy, unforgiving egomaniacs.

I see police chiefs and politicians and victors and judges high on their pedestal of self-righteousness and sanctimony plead and complain that "Criminals" should be treated ever more harshly.

They should be ashamed of themselves having such desire to bring hardship on other humans already dealing with issues. A righteous person would always be sympathetic and want to be as lenient as possible and want to figure out why the person committed the criminal act.

I do believe the D.A. is probably the most evil people alive. Their desire is to dish out as much time as possible, making up charges to stack upon each other insuring only the rich can get away without an absurd amount of time. It has come down to people getting life terms and some with no deaths. How incredibly disgusting is that. Our legal system is pathetic and rotten with evil intent to feed upon the less fortunate. Instead of helping to change people, the evil creatures of the court room take satisfaction from incarcerating and enslaving other humans for profit. Yes, the entire justice system feeds on humans for profit and these evil demons profit well. The more people who are incarcerated the more money they can drain from the public and in an attempt to validate and sustain their plush evil lively hoods they lie to the public villainizing people who are not actually that bad. The criminal justice system is the mighty evil Laviathan and everyone who profits from it is part of it even if they go to church and claim to worship Jesus and Love.

News flash you reched demons, Jesus is a Communist. That's right and if you don't have forgiveness in your heart you are not cool with God. Also, Democracy is going to be our downfall like the Roman Empire.

The correct, divine government is a ~~royal~~ Monarchy, Gods form of government. Your democracy is an attempt to validate the individual ego, the ugliest thing in life is selfishness. It is a beautiful thing to serve others and give all that you can for the benefit of all. But you teach selfishness and glorify the ego and protect it from truth by an agreement to disagree.

I have been in prison for over 22 years. I was involved in a brutal murder when I was 19. I hated myself and I acted out violently because I resented my worthless life and I did not know how to get by so I did things to get locked up. One day I took it way to far and at age 19 I did not realize the impact of my actions. That event had so much power it traumatized me deep within. It was that traumatic powerful event that made the biggest impact in my life, it transformed me and made me into the spiritual man I am today who loves righteousness and Truth and ~~an~~ has an understanding of what True selflessness is.

The past does not define me nor is the past an accurate representation of who you are now. If a person can find forgiveness within themselves than they can move with life without polluting every new moment with the trash of the past.

A person who has forgiveness in their heart is transformed by the events of the past not defined by it. Everyone suffers loss and hardships in life. I am sorry that when you were an child your parents hid the painfull truths of Life from you and made you believe you won't experience death and hardship and made you think that you were the center of the universe. Now that you have experienced crime and tragedy you become a victor as if it is now a personality trait. If you don't get over your loss and move on with life you become your own victimizer and victimise yourself. None of us are above tragedy, what matters is how you deal with it. Forgiveness is not about letting someone off the hook, forgiveness is about letting go so that you can experience the fullness and beauty life has to offer those who don't pollute it with past grief. It is nonsense and foolish to think something different could have happened. Contrary to popular nonsense, every single one of ^{us} has an expiration date. Yes, our day of death and manner of death is already a certainty. There are no random events in life and a wise person will do away with "what ifs". Live according to what is not on what if. Those who live in the realm of "what if" live and act from fear. Those who live according to what is live without fear.

The tragedies we endure give us strength, show us truth and transform us with deeper understanding, humility and make us better people. Hidden from the public eye and ear are thousands of beautiful, ~~brilliant people~~ brilliant people who are villainised because of some horrible things they did many years ago. There is no such thing as a criminal, there is mentally ill, struggling humans who are also victims of their own delusions probably taught to them by their parents and communities. Don't get to know these people and you will find that these terrible evil inmates are actually better humans than half the people out there and way better than those who are sanctimonious ass holes that think they are righteous and better than us because they have not been in trouble with the law.

You arn't righteous, you are a coward and a drone. Only cowards follow all the rules, Heroes and revolutionaries break the rules and people make statues of them. All of the great sages of the world have at some point been incarcerated. It is nothing to do what is expected of you by the authorities and public opinion. But a hero does not always follow orders even though he or she will be persecuted and punished and shamed, a hero will do what is right according to conscience. There is no law higher than Conscience, Conscience is the voice of God, Conscience is where we feel the true justice of God. No human vengeance disguised as justice is as powerful. Humanity makes the tragic and terrible mistake of taking matters into their own egocentric spiteful hands and causing much more harm than good. Even a fool like me knows 2 wrongs don't make a right. But we set up death chambers with windows so the rich devils can watch as they meticulously and slowly inject a person with a series of drugs trying to prolong and stretch out the murder to its extreme and their pleasure. A reality that is belongs in a gore porn movie. If you want to kill the person humanely as you lie then inject the person with fentanyl or heroin. I ask why wouldn't you do that? So what if the drugs are illegal, so is murder. I would ~~so~~ know, I have spent the last 22 years of my life in prison for doing less than what you do. I say again, The Criminal justice system is the mighty and Evil Leviathan which feeds on human suffering. The Beast must be destroyed. The very first step to destroying the beast is amending the constitution and abolishing slavery. Slavery is not abolished and as long as slavery is alive incarceration will be profitable and as long as incarceration is profitable there will be effort to fill prisons and keep them full. Instead of slavery how about indebted servitude where a person can work to pay their debt to society and how about no D.A. and treat every case as a unique situation with public opinion and no mandatory minimums and sentences that are realistic and balanced. No one should do more than 15 years in prison. Even that number is shameful and sounds like it was dished out by a scorned child. Are we not men and women anymore, have we totally lost our rationality?

Well, I believe I have said enough for now, maybe it will be distorted and used against me or maybe I will be canceled. But I love the truth and I know we can be so much better than what we have become. I am incredibly depressed and ashamed of Humanity and you all should be as well. Change does not need to be slow and held back by a bunch of bureaucratic bull we all made up anyway.

With Love & Sincerity,
The Spirit Dragon.
