

Depths.

12-12-23

Trying to grasp what's meant to be sometimes may seem so far away... Replaying the thoughts that caused the pain makes us drift from day to day... A sinking feeling from the depths within makes the soul break...

Heartache after heartache leads to despair an anguish no one can shake... Hoping for something, someone, anything that would bring moments of bliss becomes the escape... Echo from words said stir the emotions that make you want to yell...

Lost in a maze trying to hold what can't be held... Losing a fight no longer worth fighting... Too many years gone by too this end there's no re-writing... Trapped in the depths of confinement... The one question never asked "where the time went"???

R. Colvin
NX 6790